SKIMMED MILK FOR CALVES

Since Most of Fat Has Been Removed in Cream Carbohydrates Needed to Make It Balanced.

Skimmed milk is a little richer in protein than whole milk, but lower in carbohydrates. Since most of the fat has been removed in the cream the skimmed milk will need carbohydrates to make it a balanced ration for calves.

A good plan is to replace a portion of the whole milk with skimmed milk, gradually increase the skimmed milk with some form of carbohydrates till all of the whole milk is replaced by skimmed milk. Fine ground meal is one of the best carbohydrate supplements to be fed with skimmed milk. Some feeders cook the meal, stir it in the skimmed milk and feed it to the calf. After the calf is two weeks old it will eat fine ground meal and if fed small quantities will assimilate it. Linseed meal is also used.

Care should be taken in feeding calves. They should be taught to drink from the pail as soon as possible. Nothing but clean vessels should be used and the milk should be clean and warm.

CLEAN UTENSILS ARE URGED

High Grade of Milk Cannot Be Obtained if Pails and Cans Are Not Thoroughly Washed.

(By E. H. FARRINGTON, Wisconsin Agricultural College.)

All efforts to supply the consumers with sweet, clean milk are useless if the milk pails, the cans, and other utensils are not thoroughly washed and scalded before milk is poured into them. Milk sours so quickly and it is so difficult to remove the sour odor from the utensils that these should be washed immediately after they are used.

(1) Milk pails and cans should be smooth, with all cracks and seams flushed with solder. Seamless pails and cans have been placed on the market.

(2) When washing tinware, first rinse off the film of milk on the surface with cold water, then wash thoroughly with warm water and cleaning soda, using a brush, and finally rinse with scalding hot water and place in the sun or some place free from dust to dry.

(3) After scalding, do not wipe milk tinware with a cloth, but let the rinsing water be so hot that there is no further need of drying.

CHAPPED TEATS ARE VEXING

Where Cows Wade Around in Muddy
Yards and Pastures, Teats Often Get Wet and Cold.

Sore teats of any kind are very unpleasant, both to the cow and the milker. A cow having sore teats of any kind does not stand still during milking. She keeps moving about and even kicking.

During spring chapped teats are common. The cows wade around in muddy yards and even in ponds in the pasture, the teats get wet and cold, and if no special attention is given to the cows, the teats frequently become very sore.

HIGH-PRICED FEED ANNOYING

Dairymen Depending on Profit From Cows for Living Must Know Just What He Is Doing.

Now that the cost of cow feed is soaring skyhigh and the dairymen is depending on the profit from his cows for his living it is a self-evident fact that he must know what he is thinking about. One thing is certain, the poor feeder to the poor cow is not in the race and the sooner he gets out the better, even if he must hire out to work for the man who knows how to do his own thinking.

RETAIN BULL UNTIL TESTED

Not Good Policy to Sell to Butcher
After Two Years' Service—May Prove to Be Valuable.

After a young or untried bull has been used two years he should not be sold to the butcher, because he may prove to be a bull of exceptional worth when his daughters freshen. Such a bull often can be lent or leased to a man with a grade herd for a couple of years until some of his heifers freshen. In this way he always is subject to recall in case he proves especially valuable.

POULTRY FACTS

IDEAL HOUSE FOR CHICKENS

Wherever Possible Building Should Have Southern Front—Fresh Air and Sunshine Help.

Plenty of fresh air and sunshine, along with freedom from drafts and dampness, are the requisites of the ideal poultry house, yet there are many poultrymen who build expensive houses for their fowls without giving a thought to the real needs of the hen. Nothing plays a more important part in regulating the condition of the house than does location. Wherever possible the house should be built on a southern slope and it is better if there is some protection, as a grove of trees, to the north. This will give the house plenty of sunlight during the greatest possible time and will also protect it from the cold winter winds.

GET EGGS AND MEAT FROM KITCHEN WASTE

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In every household, no matter how economical the housewife, there is a certain amount of table scraps and kitchen waste which has feeding value, but which if not fed, finds its way into the garbage pail.

Poultry is the only class of domestic animals which is suitable for converting this waste material, right where it is produced in the city, into wholesome and nutritious food in the form of eggs and poultry meat.

Each hen in her pullet year should produce ten dozen eggs. The average size of the backyard flock should be at least ten hens. Thus each flock would produce in a year 100 dozen eggs which, at the conservative value of 25 cents a dozen, would be worth $25.

By keeping a backyard poultry flock the family would not only help in reducing the cost of living but would have eggs of a quality and freshness which are often difficult to obtain.

Remember that eggs produced by the backyard flock cost very little, as the fowls are fed largely upon waste materials.

EARLY HATCHING IS DESIRED

It will Increase Number and Size of Fowls and to Farmer It Means
Much Larger Profits.

(Prepared by the United States De-

To the country at large early hatching by every chicken raiser means much. Early hatching will increase the number and size of fowls and the number of eggs produced next year. It will mean bigger birds and birds that will lay in the winter months. To the individual farmer it means more profit. He will get more chickens, as a larger proportion will live; he will get more actual meat, not only because more will live but because his chickens will be larger; and he will get more eggs, when eggs are scarce, for early hatched pullets will lay in the winter.

The recognized importance of food in the greatest war makes it seem that the hen must take her place among those who are helping to win it for the forces of democracy. This place will be an important one in proportion to the response this year to the call for increase chicken and egg production. The hen, of course, always has shown a willingness to do her duty, and doubtless she is willing now. All that is to be done is for her masters, the farmers of the nation and the city dwellers who are helping on a backyard scale, to make sure that the hens' opportunity will not be neglected.

GREEN-FORD AUTO CO
Agents Greenville, Ky.

You know, of course, that the Maxwell Motor Car is the long distance champion of the world.

You have read that a "stock" Maxwell 5-passenger car ran for 44 days and nights without stopping the motor.

And that, in the 44 days non-stop test, the Maxwell covered 22,022 miles, at an average speed of 25 miles per hour.

But have you, up to now, realized the full significance of that performance?

Do you know that no other motor car in the world has ever equalled or even approached that performance?

In a word, did you take this test seriously when you heard of it?

Or did you set it down as a "selling stunt" to give the publicity man something to talk about?

It's worth your while to read and to study the conditions under which that test was made.

You know that the American Automobile Association (familiarly known as the "A. A. A.") is the official arbiter of every automobile test and contest.

But perhaps you didn't know that when a maker places his product under A. A. A. supervision he must do absolutely as told and abide by the decisions of the Board. That's why there are so few A. A. A. Official Records!

This 22,000-mile Maxwell non-stop test was official from start to finish.

Therein lies its value to you.

It proves absolutely the quality of the car—of the very Maxwell you buy.

For verily this was a "stock" Maxwell. Listen:—

First: the inspectors disassembled the motor to see that no special pistons, valves, bearing-metal or other parts had been used.

Every other unit was as critically inspected. Then the car was re-assembled under their own supervision.

As we had much at stake and the test was made in winter (November 23 to January 5) we asked permission to take certain little precautions against accidental stoppage.

Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?

But they refused permission to do any such thing.

For example:—They would not permit a rubber cover over the magneto—it wasn't "stock."

They refused to let us tape the ignition wire terminals—they are not taped on the Maxwells we sell—so of course it wasn't "stock."

Neither would they let us use a spiral coiled pipe in place of the usual straight one from tank to carburetor to guard against a breakage from the constant, unremitting vibration—it isn't "stock."

Nor to use a special high priced foreign make of spark plug—the run was made on the same spark plugs with which all Maxwells are equipped.

So rigid were the rules, we were unable to carry a spare tire on the rear—it wasn't "stock." A telegram to headquarters in New York finally brought a special permit to carry a spare tire.

"It isn't stock!" "It isn't stock!"

That was the laconic reply of those A. A. A. inspectors to every last suggestion that called for anything but the precise condition of the standard, stock model Maxwell that any customer can buy from any one of 3000 dealers anywhere.

We are glad now—mighty glad—that the rules were so strict and so rigidly enforced.

Any other car that ever attempts to equal that record must do it under official supervision—and comply with the same terms.

And it will have to go some.

For Maxwell set the standard when it performed this wonderful feat.

Maxwell complied with those rules—and made good.

Every drop of gasoline and oil and water was measured out and poured in by the inspectors themselves. They would not even let our man pour it in!

Every four hours the car had to report at the official station for checking.

And it had to be there on the minute.

And every minute there was an inspector beside the driver on the front seat—two more men in the rear. One got out only to let another in—day and night for 44 days and nights!

There was one technical stop.

It is interesting to know the circumstances.

Dead of night—a driving storm—a cloudburst—suddenly another car appeared in the road ahead.

In his effort to avoid a collision the Maxwell driver stalled his motor.

At least the observers thought it stopped and so reported.

The car did not stop, however, so its momentum again started the motor (if it had indeed stalled) when the clutch was let in.

The contest board exonerated our driver on grounds that his action was necessary to save life.

That shows you how rigid were the rules—how conscientiously applied by the observers.

You who have owned and driven motor cars—you who know how small a thing may clog a carburetor or a feed pipe; "short" a spark or stall a motor—will realize what a wonderfully well made car this must be to go through that test under those conditions—44 days—22,022 miles without stopping.

The exact amount of gasoline, of oil, of water used; the tire mileage, tire troubles, tire changes; the distance and the routes are matters of official record, attested under oath and guaranteed by the A. A. A.

(By the way, the average was nearly 10,000 miles per tire.)

Any Maxwell owner—or anyone interested may see those records.

And—here's the most wonderful part—though no attempt was or could be made for economy, the Maxwell averaged 22 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Some other car may, some time, equal some one of those performances. But to equal them all in the same test—that car must be a Maxwell.

Good-by, Summer.

Oh, summer, time, farewell! It's time to tell your knell, and no one sheds a sigh; you've been on deck so long, you've spread it so strong! Oh, summertime good-by! Oh summertime, in books, you, with your babbling brooks, have had a lot of praise; but people now on earth have had their money's worth of sizzling, scorching days. The poets, lyres in arm, have often sung your charm their melody enchants; but no one sees them rise to sing about your flies, your chiggers and your ants. They sing of bosky dells and zephyrs wearing bells, and sunsets rich and red; they have no language sweet concerning prickly heat, and sleepless nights in bed. Oh summertime, bid adieu! Your name is twenty three, your motto is "Avant!" You've put us all in bad, and all of us have had a lot more than we want. Oh, summertime so long! You live in tale and song as some thing grand and hazy; with me you make no hit; I'm willing to admit I've had enough in mine.

CHURCH EAGERLY GETS READY FOR VOLUNTEER DAYS

DENOMINATIONALISM IS SWEEP ASIDE FOR PARTICIPATION IN WIDE SPREAD MOVEMENT.

JEWS READY FOR BOND SALE

Archbishop Glennon Says the Spirit of Willingness is the Thing to Consider.

Church leaders are eager to show to the world on Volunteer Days, Sept. 28-29, that the spirit of the people of America still remains firm, and that they have not begun to fight as they intend to do with the weapons that they possess.

They welcome the opportunity to show how many bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan they are ready to invest in without an solicitation. The Church is the leading institution of the land, they say, and will take the lead in voluntary offerings along this line.

"The volunteer idea is the right one," said Archbishop John J. Glennon, when asked for his opinion. "This is the spirit that the democracy of America manifests in everything—the spirit to give and to do without being asked or solicited. Thousands have enlisted and other thousands in the draft are also to be considered as volunteers. The spirit of willingness is the thing to consider. The people of the Church will be glad to respond on Volunteer Days."

The Right Spirit.
Leading Rabbis of the Jewish Synagogues expressed gratification that their people were to be accorded the privilege of showing their spirit to serve freely and unasked. Their people, they said, would not lag on those days. They have already volunteered in a very vital way to help the coming campaign.

In a letter to the Liberty Loan Organization, Grand Rabbi M. Lipshitz of Philadelphia, Pa., formerly of St. Louis, stated that he will buy the first bond in his synagogue and that he and his people will talk Liberty Loan in the meetings that mark the Jewish New Year and the days that follow, leading up to Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

St. Louis Rabbis are also volunteers in this particular. They led off with speeches and private conversations in the interest of the Fourth Liberty Loan before they were solicited to do so. In fact, this has always been the spirit of St. Louis Jews in every enterprise of the Government. If it will help America, that is all we want to know, is the splendid way they express it.

Church Should Lead.
"I think the church should lead out on the Volunteer Days selected," Rev. Dr. William Robert King, president of the St. Louis Church Federation, said. "They should not wait to be asked or made to do their duty. It should be a pleasure, as I believe it will be, for church people to show their splendid volunteer spirit, not only on these days, but throughout the war."

"We sent Dr. MacFarland to France some time since to tell the people and nation of France, Gen. Pershing and the other leaders, that the Church of America was back of them in every needed way. Here is a practical way to show the kind of a spirit we possess—the spirit we gave in those messages."

The Church, whether in the small town or in the city, has never waited to be called upon in any matter of duty. Instead it has taken the lead and done the asking. No man could say he was not given an opportunity to do his part in any enterprise that concerned the war or the Government. If some other agency or individual did not reach him—and the chances are they did—he could not run the gauntlet of church leaders and private workers.

Creed Not Considered.
Of the people who bought bonds in the other campaigns without solicitation a very large majority of them were members of some particular church, and many church organizations purchased bonds as a volunteer offering to the Government.

During the two days set apart for volunteer subscriptions to be made on the part of the people and institutions services will be held, sermons preached from the pulpit and patriotic addresses delivered by leaders and others.

It is expected that millions of dollars worth of bonds will be taken in this way on these two days. The American people, and that includes the Church of America of every creed and faith, will turn up a Liberty Loan subscription through the spirit of volunteering so great that the Hun will have no further doubts of America's aims in the war.

In France and England all the loans to prosecute the war are taken by Volunteer subscriptions. Two Volunteer Days—Sept. 28 and 29—are set aside to open the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign. Every one should place his volunteer subscription on one of these two days and not wait for the collectors.

Father Killed By His Son.

Bart Spinks, a well known farmer of the Pleasant Hill community, in the Earles section was shot and killed by his son, Irvin, 16 years old, Tuesday afternoon. Father and son had an altercation in the field where they were working, and the boy went to the home and got his clothes and started to leave. The father followed, and it is said attempted to detain the boy, who pulled a revolver and shot, dear following. The body was buried in the Mercer graveyard yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a host of relatives and friends. The affair has created wide attention, and has cast deep gloom everywhere. The boy made no effort to escape.

Caruso has sung "Over There" for a Victor record, and has thus added to what is already considered the most popular of our new war songs. Geo. M. Cohan was paid $25,000 for the song, submitted in a contest.

Practically everybody is in service, now, as the 18-45 registration made it hard for dodgers. Multiplied thousands of slackers had been able to get away with the plea that they were under 21 or over 31, but it will be hard sledding for the man who should have a card, if he does not possess it.

Examine the line of "Restgood" all hair mattresses at Roark's. Finest line of goods ever carried in this section, and the cheapest, for one will give perfect satisfaction for an ordinary lifetime. Pillows of same material.

Capt. Claude Wilson was here from Camp Taylor last week, on a visit to friends. This is his first visit since he entered the service. He was universally congratulated on his promotion.

Everybody pays the same price for the Victrola, while no two persons pay the same amount for other machines. Buy the machine of recognized, superior qualities from Roark.

Sarah Elizabeth, three year old daughter of Mr. Robert Eades, died at his home at Luzerne at 9 o'clock last Thursday morning, after an illness of a few days from spinal meningitis. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery Friday afternoon, and was attended by many friends, who mourned the departure of this bright, attractive child.

Message to Music Lovers.

It is a brave man who will try to dispute the verdict of Galli-Curci, Heifetz, Caruso, McCormack, Farrar, Gluck and scores of other supreme judges. This verdict is that the Victrola is far superior to all other instruments, and the only one worthy of recording their art. Secure a Victrola now, and enjoy the artistry of the greatest singers and playing organizations of the whole world, right in your home. Call at Roark's and see the Victrola and have demonstrations.

The President has issued an order which will practically stop beer brewing Oct. 1, though the original law permitted the brewers to operate until Dec. 1. The order includes all near-beer products, as food items are used in these, also.

Merchants in cities are doing all in their power to stretch trade out so they can handle it. Halloween goods are now on display, and Christmas goods will soon be for sale. Shortage of labor makes it necessary for buyers and sellers to act early.

Small rooms can be papered at half from Roark's remnants.

Victrolas stay sold, and give the buyer no trouble. See Roark and arrange for one.

See the strong line of Victrolas on Roark's floor.

Local Boy Asks Re-classification.

Mr. Otho Park, son of Mr. Chas. Park, east of town, was given deferred classification when he registered, on account of his activities on his father's farm. Now that he has helped in getting things in shape for the year, last week he made a visit to the district board at Madisonville, and made a request that he be transferred to class 1 and sent to camp at once. This is the spirit of Young America which is winning this war, and such actions as this will hasten the cause to a glorious end.

After you have bought all the W. S. S. and Liberty Bonds you can afford, arrange with Roark for a Victrola on easy payment plan.

Read the ad of Fourth Liberty Loan Bond campaign, and read, also, the list of patriotic citizens and firms which have contributed this series of public appeals which will help the Government keep the war at top notch.

William to the German Tribes.

His war having gone badly for him after his four years of harrying Europe, treading upon dispersing or enslaving entire peoples, and committing infamous crimes upon the high seas, Emperor William stands forth in the workshop of his chief armorer, Krupp, and delivers himself of a fighting speech in his old manner, seeking thus to hearten the discouraged German tribes. He insists that the war is not his but the German people's, and that they in Zarathustra's best view have the exhausting struggle came about. This war, he says, is the product of a great negation, "the negation of the German people's right to existence," of their kind, of their achievements. "Envy," the Kaiser tells his subjects, "induced our enemies to fight and war came upon us." Aggression on his part, he would have his infatuated followers believe, does not exist, has not existed. The enemy's envy, the enemy's hatred, these alone exist, these constitute the "no of hell" challenging the "yes of heaven."

Who are the dark forces arrayed against the bright Teutonic host? The Anglo Saxons, according to the Kaiser. Not Latins, not Slavs. Indeed, the Kaiser rolls sympathetic eyes toward "the ultra democratic government which the people of Russia have chosen to construct," charging the British government with trying to overthrow it because it longs for peace. His words on this subject are doubly significant. The Kaiser is endeavoring to rally not only the Teutonic but the Slavic tribes to his banner and he is trying also to create a line of cleavage between the Anglo Saxons and their Latin brethren in arms. Meanwhile he is trying to unload his unholy war upon the German people spiritually—on them and on God—as he unloaded it long ago upon the German people physically. "Each one of us," says the Kaiser, "has received his appointed task from on high—you at your hammer, you at your lathe and I on my throne." Therefore, he tells them, "doubt is the greatest ingratitude toward the Lord." To doubt the Kaiser is, in short, to commit a sin.

The Kaiser is playing his last card. He plays it boldly, adroitly, with the hand of a master. It is however his last card. He is trying chiefly to keep the German tribes in hand while he gains a German peace by bluster or by stealthy approach. He knows he is beaten unless he can trick some of his enemies into swallowing the peace bait that he holds out to them. Meanwhile the British and French armies continue to advance and American cannon thunder within hearing of the Kaiser's fortress guarding the approaches to the Rhine—Chicago News

Select your Victrola for Christ-mas now. We planned months ago so that you may have assurance of an instrument if you arrange now for it. Stocks are low, all over the country, as the demand has increased vastly over any previous period, and with scarcity of labor and lessened material supply at the factory, the usual shortage of Victrolas at holiday times will be more acute this year than heretofore. Select your instrument and have delivery made when you wish.

18-45 Selects Go "Over the Top."

At the registration of men 18 to 21, and 31-45, inclusive, last Thursday, old Muhlenberg surprised itself by registering 3,700, which was some 500 over the estimate made by the Government. The five districts centering in town registered 924, which is 25 per cent. of the whole in the county. There was the most eager response to the order, and at least three-fourths of the registration was completed by noon. No disorder of any kind, and it is not thought that there are any slackers this time. There was ample volunteer force to take the registration, and everything moved as smooth as clockwork, though the registration booths were crowded for a few hours during the morning, everyone being anxious to enroll as soon as possible. The local exemption board is busy preparing questionnaires, which will be mailed out at once, and then the work of classification will be entered upon. New rulings as to railroad men and miners, placing them in deferred classes, will make it harder on others, and to make up the quotas which the county will be called to furnish, men engaged in non-essentials will be employed.

Bought for one, enjoyed by all—that's the Victrola.

Spasm Of The Larynx.

Spasmodic narrowing or closing of the larynx is not unusual in children, and it may also occur, although more rarely, in adults. In grown people it is commonly called spasm of the glottis—which means exactly the same thing as spasm of the larynx. It comes on very suddenly and often without any premonition; the victim suddenly finds his breathing interrupted, and sometimes he has the greatest difficulty in taking even a few short, jerky inspirations. As might be expected, the patient often increases the trouble by his very natural anxiety. It is exceedingly rare, however, for the trouble to last long enough to cause actual suffocation; usually, after a moment or to of struggle, with only a few gasping breaths, the spasm breaks as suddenly as it began, and with a long, grateful inspiration and a little panting the person resumes normal breathing.

The spasm may be owing to a number of causes, among which are the inhalation of irritating vapors, the drawing into the windpipe of a crumb of food or a drop of water, epilepsy, locomotor ataxia, hysteria. In children spasm of the larynx is commonly called croup. It may be a spasm that occurs independently of anything else, but it is usually associated with catarrhal or other inflammation of the vocal cords.

The uncomplicated spasm is called laryngismus stridulus, or laryngospasm; it ordinarily occurs in children who are suffering with rickets. The attacks occur suddenly without any evident cause. The most common form of laryngeal spasm is associated with an acute catarrhal inflammation of the larynx and is known as catarrhal or spasmodic croup or catarrhal spasm of the larynx. The attacks generally come in the night. The child is awakened about midnight, or soon afterwards, by most distressing efforts to catch his breath. The shallow inspirations that he succeeds in making is accompanied by a hoarse, strident sucking sound, and at the same time there is a loud, barking cough that adds to the child's distress by expelling more air from the lungs and thus making it necessary to draw in still more air through the narrowed laryngeal opening.

Although extremely alarming, the spasm is seldom fatal, owing to the fact that it does not last long. After the attack there is hoarseness and a cough, both of which persist for a time. These attacks are likely to be repeated at more or less frequent intervals in so-called croupy children. A predisposition to croup may be caused by enlarged tonsils or adenoids, and a croupy child should always be carefully examined by a physician. The immediate spasm may be relieved by inhaling the vapor of slacking lime obtained by throwing two pounds of lime into a bucket of steaming water, or that of a teaspoonful of compound tincture of benzoin in a pitcher of steaming water, or that produced by vaporizing ten grains of menthol in a spoon held over the gas flame or over an alcohol lamp.

Read the casualty lists in the papers and ask yourself: "How long shall I permit this to go on?" There is only one answer: "I will do my utmost to help equip and put into the field an American army that will make short work of the hun and put a stop to the shedding of American blood."

Be a Volunteer

September 28th and 29th Will Be Volunteer Days

On these days everyone will be given an opportunity to step up and buy bonds without being solicited to do so. Places will be designated where volunteer subscriptions will be received. These places will be announced in the papers and by signs. Your card will be on file there. Cards of those who do not volunteer will be used for active solicitation, which will begin Monday, September 30th. No one will be overlooked.

Do not wait for some one to come after your subscription. Show that you, too, can volunteer for your Country's service, just as our boys "over there" did.

Figure out now the very maximum you can subscribe. Be ready when Volunteer Days come. This is no time for half-way measures. Half-way measures won't push our

The hope of the world lies in the sons of America.

They are "Over there" now—a million and a half strong; they are going over daily—a million and a half more of them. Another million and a half are waiting for the call that soon will come.

Those who have been under fire have demonstrated superbly the qualities that make fighters—they have shown that the barbarous hun is no match for them.

Many an American son has gone down—has made the supreme sacrifice for his Country and liberty. Before the german horde is driven back within its own borders, many more American sons will go down. How many, depends upon us at home.

A small American army, no matter how brave, will inevitably suffer severe casualties. A gigantic American army will overwhelm the hun and bring quick victory with the least loss of life.

The lives of our sons are in our hands. The boys are ready, willing and eager. They must be trained and equipped. No time must be lost. It is up to us to provide the money necessary to make these boys invincible. We must do it and do it quickly. With our own sons already in the fight, every day's delay lays at our own doors the blood of brave American sons.

boys across the Rhine. It is up to us to buy bonds with every uninvested dollar we own, plus every dollar we can save by careful, frugal living for six months to come.

You don't have to pay all cash for your bonds. You can make your first payment from cash in the bank, and take care of the balance out of your daily, weekly or monthly savings.

The forced saving you do now will mean a nice nest egg later, for the bonds you buy now and pay for as you go along, will prove a splendid investment that will pay you a good interest every six months. After the war, the bonds will be worth more than you paid for them. Don't hesitate to do your duty and do it quickly. "Don't let the SON go down."

CAUSE OF MUDDY HIGHWAYS

Water Which Flows From Fields to Roads Is Expensive to Public—Forbidden by Statute.

Muddy roads due to water which flows over the surface of land along a highway into the side ditches are expensive to the public. No railroad will tolerate a wet roadbed longer than is necessary to carry out the drainage work to dry the earth. But persons whose convenience depends in no small measure on the roads passing by their property rarely do anything to check the injury they are working to themselves and their neighbors in the manner mentioned.

The Colorado highway commission has called attention to a statute which makes it a misdemeanor in that state to allow water to flow on a road and has issued the following notice on the subject: "From the fields along a highway the waste or excess water is allowed to run directly to the road ditch, and if, as is often the case, the road ditch is obstructed, this water gets over the road, making a muddy road, which under the traffic soon becomes impassable. This can be prevented by running a ditch (a single furrow may answer) along the fence line and discharging the water into a road culvert at a point where it will drain away. This condition also emphasizes the necessity of keeping all the road culverts open and ready to carry water."

MANY GOOD ROADS SURFACED

Massachusetts Leads With Percentage of 47.6—Oklahoma Brings Up in the Rear.

Massachusetts has the greatest percentage, 47.6, of her roads surfaced. Then come Indiana with 42.5 per cent, New Jersey with 40.5, Ohio with 38.5, Rhode Island with 34.5, Kentucky with 32.2, New York with 22.7, Connecticut with 22.2 and California with 20.2. Indiana and Kentucky hold their prominent positions on account of extensive use of gravel, and it is misleading to class gravel roads suitable for light travel with the expensive types of construction used for surfacing in Connecticut. The figures refer to all kinds of surfacing and are not restricted to what are called permanent pavements. The smallest percentage of surfacing has been done in Oklahoma, where 99.3 per cent of the roads are dirt. Other states with low percentages of surfacing are South Dakota with 8 per cent, Iowa with 1, Kansas with 1.2, North Dakota with 1.6 and Nebraska with 1.7. The excellent maintenance of many of the dirt roads of Iowa makes riding and hauling over them easy, except during the spring or after continuous rains—Nashville Tennessee.

WATER CARRIED TO DITCHES

This Can Be Done by Giving Proper Crown or Cross Slope to Road—Slopes Differ.

Water falling on the road should be carried to the side ditches by giving a proper crown or cross slope to the road. Make your road to shed water. The slope should vary with different soils. For a loamy soil a crown of about one inch per foot is considered proper on a clay soil an inch and a half to two inches. The side slopes of ditches should be much greater. The longitudinal slope or grade will also somewhat determine the crown. On a steep grade it is necessary to give a greater crown to keep the water from running down the traveled roadway and washing gullies.

Wide Tires in Favor

Wide tires for the benefit of the public highways are being endorsed quite generally by both vehicle users and the manufacturers of farm wagons and implements.

To Prevent Erosion

The entire ends of the culvert should be riprapped to prevent erosion away on the road on the lower side of the grade.

Enemy of Earth Roads

Water is the natural enemy of earth roads and must be kept out of them, off of them, and away from them.

Road Drag Is Enough

If a dirt road is properly built, the road drag will keep it in good condition.

Liberty Sparks

SOME HOLDERS FAIL TO REALIZE WORTH OF LIBERTY BONDS

Liquidation Comes From Small Investors Who Do Not Understand Tax Features.

Prevailing market quotations for the 4 and 4½ per cent Liberty Bonds indicate a lack of appreciation on the part of holders regarding their intrinsic value. "Inability to carry the bonds" is a phrase that seems hardly tenable now, three months since the Third Liberty Loan was floated. Time works in favor of Liberty Bonds since the value and merit of the investment grow more obvious.

The recent slump in the market quotation for these bonds may be due in the first place to a misapprehension on the part of certain small investors regarding the tax exemption feature. It has been common to accord to the first Liberty Loan Bonds, the 3½ per cent, a preferential value on the score of tax exemption, far above the 4 and 4½ per cent. And a great many small investors in the later bonds do not seem to realize that their securities, for the most part, possess the same merit. In other words, the 4 and 4½ per cent bonds are also fully as free from the normal income tax, now or hereafter imposed by the United States as the 3½ per cent bonds. And they are also free of the surtax or excess profits tax, now or hereafter imposed, up to an aggregate holding of $5,000.

On a moment's reflection it will be seen that this exemption from taxation sets out a very large element of the people; for there are relatively few whose incomes are involved in the consideration of surtaxes and excess profits. Yet most of the liquidation in the Liberty Bonds comes from the small investors.

That it is not always a desire to liquidate on account of "inability to carry the bonds" is evident from the fact that some small holders have been selling their 4 and 4½ per cent bonds for their 3½ per cent, for their complete tax exemption quality. Such persons are displaying a woeful ignorance in regard to the Liberty Bond statutes.

But more to be deplored is the general lack of appreciation of the ultimate value of the Liberty Bonds, no matter of what description. All the economies of a finance point to government bonds as the soundest and most far-sighted investment a person can make during these times. And this is more than ever applicable to the obligations of the United States government. Persons should realize that by investing in government bonds now they are buying with cheap money a call on dear money in the future.

PRESIDENT WILSON SAVES GAS

Aids Fuel Conservation by Walking to Worship Sunday.

Word comes from Washington that President Wilson will set the pace of automobile church goes Sunday and walk to worship.

Thus the President heads the regulation of the Fuel Administration. An East St. Louis authority estimates that if the Sunday conservation of gasoline is adhered to in that city 15,000 gallons of gasoline will be saved each Sabbath day. This would be a money saving of about $750.00.

If the gasoline were conserved at this ration throughout the United States it would result in a money saving each Sunday of about a million and a quarter of dollars, which if invested in Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds would never be touched and would greatly aid in the campaign.

In France and England all the loans to prosecute the war are taken by Volunteer subscriptions. Two Volunteer Days—Sept. 23 and 29—are set aside to open the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign. Every one should place his volunteer subscription on one of these two days and not wait for the collectors.

If the right kind of a response be made on Volunteer Days—Sept. 23 and 29—the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign will be given such an impetus that the allotted three weeks will not be required to sell the bond issue.

EXTRACTS

The quantity of merchandise of various kinds seized in the hostile countries is so great that the difficulty of storing it increases every day. All the Chambers of Commerce have been asked to give all possible information regarding warehouses, sheds, etc., in which these spoils may be temporarily sheltered. It is proposed to divide the merchandise among all the countries of the Empire.—Frankfurter Zeitung, January 5th, 1915.

Remember that you are the chosen people. The spirit of the Lord has descended on me because I am the Emperor of the Most High. I am, His sword, His representative. Disaster and death to those who resist my will. Disaster and death to those who do not believe in my mission.—The Kaiser, Address to the Army or the East.

We must win, because, if we were defeated, no one in the whole world could any longer cherish any remnant of belief in truth and right, in the Good, or, indeed, in any higher power which wisely and justly controls the destinies of humanity.—W. Hehn, Warum wir Siegen müssen.

It is only by remaining in Belgium that we shall force the English to recognize our equality with them. England must not remain master of the Belgian coast. She must be prevented from controlling an area which can be used as the starting point of a new and overwhelming Anglo-French offensive. Here lies the guarantee for the only proper relationship with England, and so for a lasting peace.—Von Bischoff, Testament.

Highly developed peoples, who are unwilling to amalgamate with the victors, can be forced into reservations; or the victors will leave to the subjugated peoples a portion of their territory to which they can all retire. It requires no supernatural gift of prophecy to perceive that in course of time the Latin peoples will be weeded out.—K. Wagner, Krieg.

O Germany, into thy soul thou must etch a deep and indelible hate. Stifle in thy heart all human feeling and hasten to the fight.

O Germany, hate. Slaughter thy foes by the millions, and of their reeking corpses build a monument that shall reach the clouds.

O Germany, hate. Salvation will come of thy wrath. Beat in their skulls with rifle-butts and axes. Let your clenched fist enforce the judgment of God.—Vierordt, Song of Hate.

NEWS FROM "OVER THERE"

Bond Purchasers Now Realize What Their Aid Is Accomplishing.

The news from the Western Front has been most cheering of late, and Liberty Loan workers may take unto themselves a mood of praise for their share in it without taking one iota of the praise due to the boys in khaki at the front who have so valiantly upheld the traditions of American arms.

The people in the Eighth District, as well as throughout the nation, who have responded so wholeheartedly to the calls for funds, and have bought so freely of the Government's securities, have supplied the boys over there with the needed equipment, without which their efforts would have been in vain.

Now that victory is in sight, the response to the new demands will be all the more cheerfully, and the Fourth Loan, no matter what the amount, will be quickly subscribed.

Every American church in America will provide a place on Sunday, Sept. 20—the latter of the two Volunteer Days—where subscriptions to Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds may be received.

Volunteer on Volunteer Day and send a message to the Kaiser that will liken him of his desire to win the world.

Remember Volunteer Days—September 23 and 29.

THE ADLER PIANO AND THE ADLER ORGAN For Churches and the Home

After you have made a thorough investigation of the different methods of selling Pianos and Organs, just figure what you can save if you buy from the factory. Remember, a retailer has his expense of selling, besides his profit. You can save all of this at our factory.
We make as fine instruments as are manufactured and sell direct to the homes on small payments and liberal terms if desired.
We have a special Showroom conveniently located at our factory, Twenty-ninth and Chestnut Streets, where the ADLER Pianos and Organs can be seen finished and in process of construction.
